

Volunteer Opportunities

The Reiman Gardens Volunteer Education Program is based on providing volunteers with a dynamic learning environment. Training and continuing education classes are the cornerstone of our program. As volunteers learn more, they, in turn, can teach more to the public.

Volunteers at Reiman Gardens continue to:

- expand their knowledge of the plant and insect world
- learn how a botanical garden operates
- gain experience for a career change
- make new friends
- discover new interests and abilities
- grow a sense of personal achievement
- develop the satisfaction of helping the Gardens be successful.

Reiman Gardens has several different program areas in which volunteers may contribute their talents. Some volunteers will learn on the job while others will require intensive training. All volunteers have access to classes and programs to further their knowledge.

If you are interested in volunteering, please contact the Gardens at 515-294-8225.

Please bring the completed Volunteer Application to the Gardens or mail it to:

Pat Kunz, Volunteer Coordinator

Reiman Gardens

1407 University Boulevard

Ames, IA 5001.